VANCE COUNTY NAMES NEW CHIEF CODE ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

Henderson, NC – Vance County Announces Appointment of New Chief Code Enforcement Officer

Vance County is proud to announce the selection of Bob Rosch as the new Chief Code Enforcement Officer, effective July 15, 2024. Co-located in the same office as Planning, Code Enforcement will now function as a separate department with Rosch as the department head. Mr. Rosch brings varied experience and expertise to this newly created role following a comprehensive recruitment and interview process.

Prior to joining Vance County, Rosch served as a multi-trade building and fire inspector for the Town of Morrisville. Rosch is certified by the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI) Level III in all building trades. He also holds several certifications from the National Fire Administration as a Fire Inspector and Fire Plan Reviewer.

“I am happy to return to Vance County where I previously resided for many years and look forward to serving the community”, said Rosch.

“I am more than thrilled to bring Mr. Rosch on board with the rest of the Vance County team”, said County Manager C. Renee Perry. “His inspections experience will definitely be of benefit to Vance County”.
